Moon: Script

The scene is surrounding a large pond. In the centre is an image of the moon. There is a fishing rod, a large fishing net, a bucket, and a rake lying nearby. An oversized acorn is in one corner of the performance space.

MUSIC 1: INTRODUCTION (1m 30s)
The four groups of Pond Dwellers (PDs) enter from different directions amid much commotion and concern. They all make their individual noises with conversations in their voices within each group. As they arrive at the pond, they look and point at the moon below the surface. As the music fades, individuals begin to speak while the others comment in their respective noises.

A	Our beautiful old oak tree has fallen!
All PDs	What are we going to do?
B	We have no shade from the sun!
All PDs	What are we going to do?
C	And no acorns to eat!
All PDs	What are we going to do?
D	Our world has been destroyed!
All PDs	What are we going to do?
E	And the moon has fallen into the pond.
All PDs	What are we going to do?

Two Duckings stand next to the pond looking at the moon. The other PDs wander around aimlessly looking for something to eat and somewhere to shelter. They all continue making their individual noises, conversing in their groups, and looking and pointing back at the moon in the pond. Two Ducklings speak…

Duckling A	Look at the moon. It's so sad!
Duckling B	The moon is just lying there under the water.
Duckling A	We have to save the moon.
Duckling B	But how?
Duckling A	I know how to get the moon back up into the sky!
